If you're looking for a kitchen that is both stunning and functional then this is the place for you...

Kitchen Architecture, recently crowned for the second year running as the best kitchen retailer in the UK, continues to lead the way with a complete refurbishment of its Oxford showroom.

A family-run business, Kitchen Architecture was established in 2002 in Summertown. Since then it has grown to become the largest independent designer of bulthaup kitchens in Europe, boasting one of the strongest bulthaup teams in the world. And with a second showroom in Putney, London, it displays the most up-to-date ranges of bulthaup furniture in Europe.

As current holder of the highest accolade in the kitchen industry, The Master Retailer of the Year Award, Kitchen Architecture creates multi-functional, kitchen-dining-living areas for the most discerning home owners.

A visit to the newly renovated Summertown showroom at 274 Banbury Road is a must for anyone considering an open-plan living space. The single glazed frontage, showcasing the timeless beauty of the bulthaup brand, is warm and inviting. Inside are five stunning displays that provide an exciting and inspirational environment to help you visualise the furniture in your own home.

The use of natural stone flooring, wood and bronze adds an organic, period feel to displays while the side extension to the showroom provides a more architectural, white-box environment. The underlying message is that bulthaup looks as comfortable in period properties as it does in modern surroundings.

Rob Gelling, the managing director, comments: "I set up Kitchen Architecture with a very clear vision: simply to be the best provider of high-end kitchens in the business. Our driving force is to give unrivalled service, product knowledge and project delivery".
