Become part of the team at Kitchen Architecture

Design sociable living spaces that add value to our clients' homes and lifestyles

Company: Kitchen Architecture

Role: Trainee design and marketing co-ordinator

Duration: Mid July 2024 for 12 months

Location: Cheshire

Salary: £18,000 per annum

Our students form an integral part of our sales, design and marketing teams.

Working with the iconic bulthaup brand, our own furniture ranges (Teddy Edwards and systemKA) and other market-leading, high-end products (Rimadesio and Agape), you will use AutoCad and our bespoke 3D software to prepare design proposals and renders for kitchens and living spaces. This will include floor plans, elevations and sections.

On finalisation of the design, you will produce plumbing and electrical drawing and fitting packs for the installation teams working on site.

Using established Kitchen Architecture design principles, critical to the meticulous standards our brand demands, you will be expected to work on a variety of projects.

You will get involved with company marketing and PR. This will include: maintaining our extensive photo library; sourcing, updating and creating content for Kitchen Architecture's website, bulthaup's website, and our digital/social media channels. You will analyse tracking and digital data (including our CRM – Zoho) to understand trends, evaluate campaigns and support better marketing decisions; as well as helping with events, CRM maintenance, and other adhoc activities.

Training: we invest heavily in our placement students and you will undergo a comprehensive training and induction programme

- Kitchen Architecture induction programme.
- Kitchen Architecture design school.
- Three-day bulthaup induction.
- Product training.
- Site visits – measuring up, taking deliveries and handover.
- On-site fitting, experiencing a complete installation.
- On-the-job training in Kitchen Architecture design principles.
- Appliance training.
